“I have read a large number of D/P (Dissertation/Project) over the years, and this is one of the best of the group. It is written with passion and conviction, it gives evidence through research and an understanding of the research, and it is incredibly practical. I would hope that it would issue in a book in the fairly near future. Such a book would be very helpful, not only to congregations and church offices, but to policy makers on many levels. .... Again, the author has a gift for interweaving theology and practice.” Again, this an outstanding D/P. Congratulations to Ms. Kim for a job well done.
