

Dietrich Bonhoeffer, a Lutheran pastor who resisted Hitler in Germany during World War II, wrote, "Neighborliness is not a quality in other people, it is simply their claim on ourselves."